

Go Inside Mike Tyson's For Sale Las Vegas Home

Posted by Annika Harris on Mar 14, 2016

Mike Tyson has purchased a larger Henderson, Nevada home, so he's put his first home in the bedroom community of Las Vegas up for sale. Let's take a peek into the 5,800-square-foot home located at 1294 Imperia Drive ...

Henderson is only 16 miles from downtown Las Vegas, so it reportedly offers upscale living that is quiet, as well as allows residents to raise children far from the glitz of the Vegas Strip. The wealthy community also places high on the FBI's list of safest cities to live in the U.S.

Now that you've been sold on the neighborhood, let's check out what Iron Mike's home has to offer.

The two-story home was renovated in 2016 and sits on a third acre. It has five bedrooms, six bathrooms, and three fireplaces (trust me, a December in Las Vegas calls for a fireplace). The house is industrially-styled with skybridges, open ductwork, and vaulted ceilings with materials of marble, wood, steel, and slate. The backyard features an infinity edge pool, waterfall, two spas, and spacious patio area with fire pit, BBQ, bar area, and pool bathroom. “The spectacular master bathroom upstairs offers marble floors, floating tub, chandeliers, seamless shower, LED rain shower, marble and glass tile on walls, Luna marble counters, refinished cabinets, wall sconce and custom wall mirrors. All bathrooms have been remodeled with a gorgeous new contemporary design,” reports Luxury Homes of Las Vegas.
